The walk starts at 1 information office ‘t Zand (Concertgebouw). If you come by train, ask for directions if necessary at the 1 information office Railway Station (to find the office, follow signs to the ‘Centrum Market square - exit’); leave the station using the exit on the centre side and cross the station square diagonally to the left. Then cross the ring road (Buiten Begijnenvest) in front of the station at the traffic lights and take the path to the left through the Koning Albertpark. This path leads to ‘t Zand and is made of large flat stones which may be somewhat loose and uneven.

Stand on ‘t Zand with your back to the information office in the 2 Concertgebouw and cross the square diagonally to the left towards the pavilion of the underground car park. There is an 4 accessible toilet inside this building.

Go past the pavilion and continue straight ahead on ‘t Zand (keeping the restaurants and cafes on your right). Continue for a short while, then take the first street on your right: Zuiderdreef. Continue to walk or drive on the right-hand side.

A little further on turn right into Sint-Salvatorskerkhof. Cross the street to visit the wheelchair-friendly 3 Saint Saviour's Cathedral. Then continue on your way in the Sint-Salvatorskerkhof, go around the cathedral and take the third street on your right: Heilige Geeststraat. Stay on the right-hand side and turn right again at the end (at the far end of the Church of Our Lady) onto the Mierastraat.

A bit further down the Mierastraat you can visit the 6 Saint John's Hospital. Just before you arrive there, turn right through the gate directly opposite the Church of Our Lady. This will take you to the 7 Old St. John site. Immediately take a right turn; you will find yourself in the herb garden. From here, you can follow a path around the site. A large part of this loop is on 8 rounded cobblestones. At the end of the loop, there is a rather steep incline. If you want to avoid the rounded cobblestones, you can skip this loop.

Leave the Old St. John site through the same gate. Go left on Mierastraat and cross the street diagonally past the little flower garden. Now you reach the Archaeological Museum on your left-hand side) to reach the 1 Church of Our Lady. The entrance to the church is behind the bus stop. Would you like to visit the museum in the church as well? Then you need to go to the new glass reception pavilion of the 9 Ghent Museum (from spring 2019 onwards), where you can buy a ticket. Past the pavilion, you can follow a path which goes between the church and Ghent Museum and leads to the Bonifacius bridge. This charming little bridge is not wheelchair accessible but you can admire the bridge from here while also getting a lovely view of the back of the church and the Ghent museum from this spot.

Then turn back and cross the road to Guido Gezelplein. Continue to your left and then take the first street on your right. This brings you back onto Mierastraat. At the end of Mierastraat, turn right into the Oude Burg. Then take an immediate left on the Simon Stevinplein. Then walk on the right side of the square. There is a slight incline here. Still on the square, turn right into an alley: Loppenstraat. At the end of Loppenstraat you have to turn left into the Oude Burg. You have two options here:

1. Stay on the left side of the street where there is a narrow (70 cm wide) section.
2. Cross over via a kerb of approximately 4 cm high. Then you can again along the street diagonally past the bicycle parking facility. Alternatively, you can cross back diagonally at the Kortuizerinnenstraat towards City Hall.

Either way, you have to turn left further along Oude Burg through a gate under the 12 Cloth Hall. Now you arrive in the courtyard, from which you immediately have a nice view of the Belfry, which is not wheelchair accessible. You will find an accessible toilet in the courtyard. Cross the courtyard to arrive on the world famous Market square. To the left, between the benches, there is a tactile model of the Belfry.

Cross the Market diagonally to the right to get to the 14 Historium (here is a 1 cm-high kerb). The same building also houses an information office and accessible toilet. When leaving the building, go left and then continue along the side of the Market.

A little further on, turn left into the Breidestraat. The 15 Bruges Beer Experience (not wheelchair accessible) is on your left. This street has a slight incline and the cobblestones are not in good condition. You will now arrive on the Burg, where you should turn right immediately. In the right corner you will find the famous 16 Basilica of the Holy Blood. To the left, at the centre of the Burg, is the beautiful 17 City Hall. The white-gold building next to this is the Old Civil Registry, wherein you find the 18 Liberty of Bruges museum and the city archive. Continue on your way through the gate under the Old Civil Registry onto Blinde Ezelaan. At the end you can see the Vismarkt, where you can buy fresh seafood every morning from Wednesday to Saturday. Once across the water, turn right and you will arrive at Huidenvettersplein, a lovely square full of terraces.

Cross the square and you may need some help on the steep incline towards the Rozenhoedkaai. This is a very popular photo location, overlooking the Belfry and canals (Bruges reien).

Turn right onto Rozenhoedkaai and continue on the right-hand side. At the intersection with the Willestraat bridge, you may need help at a difficult crossing with a small threshold and incline.

Continue walking or driving straight along Dijver. A little further on, between the rows of trees, cross the street (here you have to go down a kerb of about 4 cm) to go through the gate to the 19 Groeninge Museum. The path leads you through the museum’s beautiful gardens. There is a short stretch of rather tricky cobblestones and quite a steep diamond plate downward incline along the way. After this, cross over Groeninge street and go through a gate to enter the charming city park of 21 Hof Arens. If you would prefer to avoid the diamond plate incline, go straight onto Groeninge street from Dijver, continue for a short while until you come to the gate to the Groeninge Museum on your left and the gate to Hof Arens on your right. Have a wander around the park for a while and revisit the Bonifacius Bridge that was mentioned before. Leave the park through the gate to the left of the bridge to get back onto Groeninge. Now go straight ahead until the end of Groeninge, where you should cross Nieuwe Gentweg (there is a small kerb of about 3 cm). Then turn right. Here you will pass the 20 De Meulenaere and Sint-Jozef almshouses. These are not wheelchair accessible, but you can have a look inside.

At the end of the Nieuwe Gentweg, cross the street via a lowered kerb and turn right into Katelijnestraat. Continue along this street on the right-hand side. A little further on, turn right near the Rooms Convent almshouse (No. 21A) cross the street to turn into an alley called Strooststraat.

You will arrive at Walplein, where you continue to walk or drive on the right-hand side. Pass by 22 De Halve Maan brewery, continue straight on and turn right at the end into the Wijngaardstraat. This will lead you to the Wijngaardplein with the famous Bruges swans and the 23 Beguinage.

A little further on, turn right and cross the bridge to get to the main entrance of the Beguinage. However, this bridge is quite steep and after the bridge there is a stretch of rounded cobblestones to cross. As a wheelchair user, it’s recommended that you use a different entrance: continue straight ahead across Wijngaardplein. You will arrive at the 24 Minnewater. Then take the street on the right which also takes you along the water via a gate into the Beguinage. Turn right after passing through the gate. Most of the Beguinage can be seen properly via the flatter cobblestones along the inner circle. However, to get to that path you do have to cross some uneven cobblestones first. The Beguinage church can only be visited via a steep removable ramp.

Leave the Beguinage via the same route and turn right immediately after passing through the gate. Then follow the path along the Minnewater. Turn right at the end, when you reach the Poertoren (tower). You may need some help there on a slope. Follow the path along the water again and turn left at the end. You will see Bruges’ train station directly ahead of you. If you want to return to ‘t Zand, cross over to the right and take the path through the Koning Albertpark.

You will find more info about these places in the brochure.
