Romeins Archeologisch Museum Oudenburg (Roman archaeological museum Oudenburg)

After years of trudging through mud, painstaking excavations and studies, Oudenburg today possesses a unique collection of archaeological artefacts from Roman times. The good news is that the visitor can pore over them at the modernised museum. The reconstructions, scale-models, archaeological finds and computer simulations enable you to get to grips with the region's rich Roman history in a professional way. The adjacent visitor centre brings you also up to date with the Abbey of Saint Peter's, Saint Arnold and the other attractions of this region.
