Gezellehuis

This literary and biographical museum about the life of Guido Gezelle (1830-1899), one of Flanders' most famous poets, was established in the house where he was born, situated in a peaceful working-class district of the city. Here you can discover his life and works, based on five main themes. Behind the house is a shady garden, a true ode to nature, which was a huge inspiration for Gezelle, with Jan Fabre's The Man Who Gives a Light as the main attraction.
