

Sukerbuyc

Sukerbuyc is the point of reference in Bruges and the surrounding area. This chocolatier started out in 1977 with a modest 25 kilos of hand-made chocolate per week, only to go on to shift some 1,000 kilos of the finger-licking goodies 30 years later. This is just to say that the famous Sukerbuyc chocolate is widely tasted and that business is going well. Every chocolate connoisseur is crazy about the well-filled and edible chocolate boxes, chocolate packed in chocolate and provided with a Bruges print; is there anything better? The crafted pralines are made according to the secret family recipe and can be immediately tasted across the road in De Proeverie, the English tea house under the wings of the chocolaterie.
